

Dear Pastor/Mission's Committee:

I am writing this letter on behalf of Josiah and Rachel Ritchie, who have been members of Grace Baptist Church of Odenton, MD since May of 2004. Since they came to us, they have been involved in many different aspects of our ministry, from working in Children's Church to going out on visitation in the community.

Josiah and Rachel have both been students at Washington Bible College since they first came to us. Josiah has also been working at the college maintaining their IT department. More importantly, though, they both have shown a desire to be used in the area of missions.

One of the difficulties for them has been discovering the area of missions to which God was calling them. Neither one of them felt called to be a frontier missionary, but they had a desire to support those who are on the field. This is where Fellowship International Mission came in. FIM is an evangelical, non-denominational mission's agency with nearly 150 missionaries on every continent in the world. But one of the areas they have lacked has been in communication with and support of their missionaries. This is why Josiah and Rachel feel led to this specific mission's agency. Their gifts are in the exact areas of need.

Because Josiah and Rachel would be considered mission support workers, they would need to raise support just like those missionaries on the field. It is my desire to introduce you to them, and invite you to consider the possibility of joining this effort to help bring better communication and support to missionaries on the field.

Thanks for considering this opportunity and feel free to contact me if you have any questions
